

Program of the
20th International Morphology Meeting (IMM20)

Budapest, Sept 1 – 4, 2022,

hosted by:

Hungarian Research Centre for Linguistics (NYTK)

Main session	Sept 1 – 4
Poster session	Sept 2
Workshop 1: Analogy in Inflection	Sept 3
Workshop 2: The imperfectability of morphology	Sept 2 – 3
Workshop 3: Back-formation	Sept 1
Workshop 4: DMTD	Sept 3 – 4

Conference rooms:

HB - Budapest	“Budapest” Hall, Hotel Benczúr
HB - Mozaik	“Mozaik” Hall, Hotel Benczúr
NYTK - LH	Lecture Hall, Hungarian Research Centre for Linguistics

Sept 1 (Thu)

	HB - Budapest	NYTK - LH	HB - Mozaik
10:00–11:15		registration
Chair:	Krisztina Polgárdi
11:30–12:00	opening addresses (G. Prózéký, W. U. Dressler)
12:00–13:00	keynote 1 – Ricardo Bermúdez-Otero: Lexically restricted phonological alternation: the case for via-rules
13:00–14:30	LUNCH BREAK
Chairs:	Gilles Authier	Jenny Audring
14:30–15:00	Matías Guzmán Naranjo and Olivier Bonami: Inflectional complexity from a cross-linguistic perspective	Claudia Marzi and Vito Pirrelli: An information-theoretic analysis of the inflectional regular-irregular gradient for optimal processing units	14:30–14:40 Livio Gaeta and Fabio Montermini: Introduction: Back-formation in a new theoretical universe 14:40–15:30 Franz Rainer: Back-formation: looking back on two centuries of research
15:00–15:30	Enrique Palancar and Leonardo Carranza: Inflectional class interactions and valency changes in Matlatzinca	Gilles Boyé: Toying with PCFP: Using analogy cliques to fill a sparse lexicon
15:30–16:00	Ágnes Kalivoda, Farrell Ackerman and Robert Malouf: Periphrastic constructions and inflection internal to derivation	Adrita Dutta Roy: Hierarchical aspect inflection in Bangla	Martin Haspelmath: Forward-formation and back-formation in a Relational Morphology perspective
16:00–16:30	COFFEE BREAK
Chairs:	Jonathan Bobaljik	András Cser
16:30–17:00	Tania Paciaroni, Sebastian Fedden and Greville Corbett: Reduced agreement - a system that some elements ignore	Martina Werner: The emergence of relational adjectives in the history of German and the role of argument structure	Plus ten Hacken and Renáta Panocová: Evidence for Back-formation in German and Slovak
17:00–17:30	Judith Meinschaefer: What licences event and argument structure in loan nominalisations? A corpus-based study of Italian nouns borrowed from English	Denisa Bordag and Andreas Opitz: Towards disclosing the mental structure of morphological families: The case of the so-called non-finites	Julen Manterola and José Ignacio Hualde: Back-formation as borrowed productive morphology in Basque
17:30–18:00	Jan Don, Fenna Bergsma, Anne Merkuur and Meg Smith: Morphological Classes without Class-features	Veronika Mattes, Sabine Sommer-Lolei and Wolfgang U. Dressler: Cognitive linguistic positions in morphological processing and acquisition	Fiammetta Namer and Nabil Hathout: Back-formation in ParaDis: a paradigmatic analysis
18:00–18:30		Borja Herce, Carmen Saldana and Balthasar Bickel: The syntagmatic properties of agreement morphs and the learning bias against more unnatural paradigmatic patterns	Conclusion

Sept 2 (Fri)

	HB - Budapest	NYTK - LH	HB - Mozaik
Chair:	Márton A. Baló
9:00–10:00	keynote 2 – Jenny Audring: Morphology in constructions: implications, opportunities, consequences
10:00–10:30	C O F F E E B R E A K
Chairs:	Márton A. Baló	Pavel Štichauer	Petar Milin
10:30–11:00	Zsuzsanna Schnell: Ubiquity of metaphor in language and cognition – analytic dichotomies and continuums in understanding linguistic mappings	Borja Herce: (How much) does morphological change in the Romance verbal paradigm abide by morphomic (vs extra-morphological) templates?	Neil Bermel, Alexandre Nikolaev and Ludek Knittl: An uncertain future? On ‘problematic’ paradigmatic cells in Czech
11:00–11:30	László Palágyi: A usage-based approach to the opacity and alternation of locatives in Hungarian	Martin Maiden: On uniqueness as a criterion of morphomic status	Maria Copot and Olivier Bonami: Form predictability and cell frequency: a behavioural study
11:30–12:00		Natascha Pomino and Eva-Maria Remberger: Why theme vowels matter: Some insights from Romance	Elnaz Shafaei-Bajestan, Yu-Ying Chuang, Dunstan Brown, Roger Evans and Harald Baayen: What about meaning in inflection?
12:00–13:30	L U N C H B R E A K
13:30–14:45	POSTER SESSION – NYTK - LH
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Aida Villaécija: Sequential derivation in Catalan Sign Language (LSC): agentive, qualitative and sense affixes ● Valentina Maniglia: The prefix anti- in Romance languages: a diachronic and comparative analysis ● Petr Kos: Metonymy in Word-formation ● Hans Basbøll: Morphology-prosody interaction in Modern Danish: challenging the foundation of Word-structure in Hans Basbøll's Non-Stød Model (2008) ● Rossella Varvara, Justine Salvadori and Richard Huyghe: Assessing affix polyfunctionality through BERT-derived representations
Chairs:	Ricardo Bermúdez-Otero	Pius ten Hacken	Petar Milin
15:00–15:30	Maria Kouneli, Paula Fenger and Jonathan Bobaljik: Morphosyntactic constraints on Phonological dominance	Anastasiia Vyshnevskia: The comparative in Ukrainian: suffixes, augments, and root sizes	Alexandre Nikolaev: Studying negative evidence in Finnish language corpora
15:30–16:00	Manuel Badal: Velarization as a way to avoid syncretism in 2nd conjugation Catalan verbs	Barbara Marqueta: When are inalienable nouns inalienable in Spanish? Microvariation in morphological constructions	Jurica Polančec and Tomislava Bošnjak Botica: Mixed plural paradigms of masculine nouns in Croatian
Chairs:	Thomas Stolz	Hans Basbøll	Peter Milin
16:30–17:00	Jan Radimský and Pavel Štichauer: Zero-derived formations in Italian (of the type abbandono , sosta , and verifica) in a diachronic perspective: A Google books based research	András Cser: Sound patterns, frequency and predictability in verbal inflection: a case study from Latin	Dagmar Divjak, Petar Milin and Srđan Medimorec: Is all morphological marking remembered in the same way? A perspective from research on memory

17:00–17:30	Laura Becker: The distribution of zero marking in inflectional morphology	Lior Laks: How do penguins differ from kangaroos? Vowel 'dropability' in the pluralization of vowel ending loanwords in Hebrew	Mari Aigro and Virve Vihman: Morphological overabundance: systemic and idiosyncratic factors in the use of parallel forms
17:30–18:00			Farrell Ackerman, Ágnes Kalivoda & Robert Malouf: Always far from perfect, yet always good enough

19:00 – CONFERENCE DINNER BANQUET in the Main Building of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences (address: 1051 Budapest, Széchenyi István tér 9. – at the Pest side end of Láncid ('Chain Bridge'))

Sept 3 (Sat)

	HB - Budapest	NYTK - LH	HB - Mozaik
Chair:	Huba Bartos
9:00–10:00	keynote 3 – David Embick: The (small) syntax of stative passives
10:00–10:30	C O F F E E B R E A K
Chairs:	Lior Laks	Erich Round	Petar Milin
10:30–11:00	Rafał Szeptyński: Affix changes due to reanalysis: typology and directionality	Anne Merkuur: Analogy across classes and languages: Regularisation in Frisian 2SG past forms	Paul O'Neill: Dictators and Oligarchies: a morphological perspective
11:00–11:30	Renate Raffelsiefen: Neutralisation of contrast in affixes: the relevance of prosodic organisation	Muhammed İleri: The Role of Analogy in a Paradigm Gap in Turkish	Sabine Arndt-Lappe: Hubs, dearth and inter-individual differences, analogically – the case of English -ic and -ical
11:30–12:00	Bartłomiej Czaplicki: Product- and source-oriented generalisations: allomorph distribution in Polish locative adjectives	András Bárány and Jutta Hartmann: Analogy in inflection and morphosyntax
12:00–13:30	L U N C H B R E A K
Chairs:	Franz Rainer	Erich Round	Petar Milin
13:30–14:00	Tim Zingler: A diachronic approach to the distributional differences between infixes and circumfixes	Akiko Nagano and Masaharu Shimada: Analogical rule extension underlying novel requisitive imperatives in web Japanese	Gordana Hržica, Tomislava Bošnjak Botica and Sara Košutar: More than just 'adding the -ed': can we predict verb overgeneralizations in morphologically rich languages?
14:00–14:30	Lior Laks and Reem Abu Shah: Competing patterns of loanwords adaptation: Morphological and periphrastic formation in Palestinian Arabic	Denisa Bordag and Andreas Opitz: The role of analogous morphological representations of previously acquired lexical entries in incidental acquisition in L1 and L2	Neil Bermel, Martin Alldrick and Ludek Knittl: Ideal and real paradigms: confronting evidence from grammars and corpora

14:30–15:00	Gilles Authier: Reconstructing prefixing nominal number marking in East Caucasian	Sara Court, Micha Elsner and Andrea Sims: Quantifying Factors Shaping Analogical Restructuring of the Maltese Nominal System	Martin Beneš: Structuralist Tradition Meets Empirical Data: Corpus Data Enhancing the Czech Internet Language Reference Book
15:00–15:30	Peter Arkadiev: From derivation to inflection and back: Variation and change in the Abaza caritive morphology	Camille Lavigne, Gilles Boyé and Gauvain Schalchli: Recovering from accidental syncretisms with word2vec analogies
15:30–16:00	C O F F E E B R E A K
Chairs:	Martin Maiden	Erich Round	Katharina Korecky-Kröll
16:00–16:30	Kristian Roncero: Feast and famine beyond morphology	Tamar Johnson, Micha Elsner and Kenny Smith: Solving the Paradigm Cell Filling Problem: results from LSTM neural network models	16:00–16:05 Stela Manova and Katharina Korecky-Kröll: Welcome 16:05–16:30 Stela Manova: Diminutivization, allomorphy and the architecture of grammar: phonology before morphology and syntax (introduction)
16:30–17:00	Jeff Parker: Overabundance in English Verbs: Canonicity and Distribution	Matías Guzmán Naranjo: A typological view of analogy in morphology: some issues and possible solutions	Bartłomiej Czaplicki: Phonological similarity avoidance leads to lexical gaps in Polish double diminutives
17:00–17:30	Maria Copot and Andrea Sims: Defectiveness as a product of prescriptivism: a behavioural study	Paul Kiparsky: Analogy as a Source of New Inflectional Patterns	Maria Voeikova: Diminutives and other ka-words in informal colloquial Russian: a framework for comparison between Slavic and Baltic languages
17:30–18:00	Thomas Stolz and Nataliya Levkovych: On co-plurals: Cross-linguistic evidence of competing pluralization strategies in the domain of nouns	Erich Round, Emily Lindsay-Smith and Sacha Beniamine: Workshop summary and discussion	17:30–17:50 Monika Podlogar: Changes of grammatical gender in nominal diminutives in Slovene 17:50–18:10 Karin Kavčič and Tatjana Marvin: Allomorphy Conditions in the Slovene Diminutive System 18:10–18:30 Joint discussion of both papers on Slovene and summing up of the first day
18:00–18:30

Sept 4 (Sun)

	HB - Budapest	NYTK - LH	HB - Mozaik
Chairs:	Vito Pirrelli	David Embick	Stela Manova
9:00–9:30	Chariton Charitonidis: Both hyponymy and context concreteness for the second constituent are relevant in the comprehension and production of compound words	Ekaterina Georgieva and Lena Borise: Towards a DM account of verbal morphophonology in Udmurt	Gabriella Juhász: Nominal diminutive suffixes in the birch bark letters of Novgorod

9:30–10:00	Milena Belosevic and Sabine Arndt-Lappe: Selfie-Merkel and Villen-Spahn. Negative evaluation and event-based personal name compounds in German	Junya Morita: An Analysis of Deverbal Adjectivization within an Antilexical Framework: The Case of -kanoo Compounding in Japanese	M. Silvia Micheli and Matteo Pellegrini: Exploring allomorphy and gender assignment in Italian diminutives: Alternation patterns and constructional schemas
10:00–10:30	C O F F E E B R E A K
Chairs:	Sabine Arndt-Lappe	Peter Arkadiev	Stela Manova
10:30–11:00	Katinka Rózsa: Word-formation with nicht in German	Ida Raffaelli, Matea Filko, Daniela Katunar, Marina Grubišić and Janja Čulig Suknaić: Explorations of Morphotactic and Morphosemantic Transparency in Croatian – the case of suffixation	Obed Broohm and Clement Appah: Partial Motivation in Kwa Diminutive Nominals
11:00–11:30	Dagmar Bittner: German plural formation is word class bound	Omar Gamboa Gonzalez: Selectional Restrictions of the French Suffix -ance	Yiyang Guo: Diminutives at word level and root level: -er in Colloquial Beijing Mandarin
11:30–12:00	Marcel Schlechtweg, Bénédicte Grandon and Esther Ruigendijk: The acquisition of the German nominal plural system: A comparison of the productions of children with typical hearing and with cochlear implant	Stefan Hartmann, Daniel Claeser and Kristian Berg: Morphology and spelling variation: A case study using spontaneous handwritten data	Morgan Rood Staley: Diminutives and Contextual Allomorphy in the Mehri DP
12:00–13:30	L U N C H B R E A K
Chairs:	Sabine Arndt-Lappe	Martin Haspelmath	Stela Manova
13:30–14:00	Ingo Plag, Maria Heitmeier and Frank Domahs: Modelling German plural recognition in aphasia with discriminative learning	Natalia Slioussar and Varvara Magomedova: Gender agreement processing: evidence from Russian	Ümit Atlamaz and Furkan Dikmen: Adjectival Diminutives in Turkish
14:00–14:30		Kirill Chuprinko, Varvara Magomedova and Natalia Slioussar: Gender variation in Russian indeclinable nouns: optimality over structuralism	Katharina Korecky-Kröll: Diminutive variation in rural German in Austria: “true” allomorphy or just sociolinguistic variation?
14:30–15:00	conclusion / closing remarks
